

It Doesn't Have to Be This Way: Jim & Dr. Houghton's Story

It's been 4 months since Jim's back surgery, and he's still struggling to go about his daily activities. These days, it's not just his body that is hurting. He can't seem to shake his feelings of despair.

The next week...

You already need a refill? You're taking more than you should. We need to cut back your meds.

It's not enough! You don't know what it's like...

I'm sick of this. You said I'd be back to normal by now. You have no idea what I'm going through. My pain is real and you treat it like a toothache!

Feels like I'm wrestling upside-down.
